RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

As a state legislator and local business owner, I can attest that Comcast is a business that understands the values of our community in North Little Rock, Arkansas. Comcast's story from its humble roots in Mississippi to becoming a leader in cable, Internet and voice services demonstrates the importance of strong business acumen – anticipating consumer needs and demands and providing solutions to problems, all while innovating new products that drive the industry.

Comcast understands that being part of a community is not just about providing services. The company is an investor in our civic organizations, providing support for nonprofits that in turn support our local families. Corporate partners like Comcast allow service organizations to expand their efforts and continue their important missions, especially in the face of difficult economic times like we face right now. This support is in addition to Comcast initiatives such as providing complimentary broadband services at our local libraries, schools and community centers which helps those who otherwise would not have access to the Internet.

While you review the new joint venture between Comcast and NBC, I hope you will remember our experiences with Comcast here in North Little Rock. As a businessman and elected official, I know how important its services are to my neighbors, customers and constituents. I am continually impressed by Comcast's success and even more so by its continued commitment to providing my community with the tools we need to achieve success as well.

Sincerely,

Representative Barry Hyde

RE: MB Docket 10-56

Dear Chairman and Commissioners:

I am an employee of Comcast SportsNet, and I am writing to endorse the proposed Comcast-GE joint venture to operate NBC Universal (NBCU).

I have worked for Comcast SportsNet for the past five years, after having worked previously for various other media companies, the National Football League, and several University athletic departments.

More than any other company or organization I have ever worked for, Comcast has impressed me with its commitment to provide a quality workplace experience for its employees on every meaningful level, in addition to providing valuable and useful products for its customers.

Comcast has also demonstrated a strong commitment to the communities in which it operates its businesses through such annual events as Comcast Cares Days and other similar initiatives.

The proposed Comcast-GE joint venture to operate NBC Universal would, in my view, extend the scope and influence of Comcast's core business culture in many new ways that would serve the communications industry, and the country at large, very well.

Sincerely,

Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

On behalf of the Motor City Blight Busters (MCBB) of Detroit, Michigan, I am writing to urge the FCC's support of the Comcast and NBC Universal venture. Comcast has been a wonderful partner to MCBB and bolsters our work with critical volunteer support every year.

In our remarkable 21-year history, Motor City Blight Busters and our 120,000 volunteers have contributed more than 658,000 hours to paint 684 homes, secured 379 abandoned buildings, renovated 176 houses and built 114 new ones to make suitable housing for 1,160 people in Detroit. We fed 350 people at our first Thanksgiving dinner, provided 300 students with training in building trades and culinary arts and offered free health screening to 500 citizens.

Included in our efforts are the countless Comcast employees who joined us on Comcast Cares Day. Comcast and its employees help revitalize and re-energize our community through this day of volunteer support and other efforts throughout the year.

In fact, Comcast is well known for its philanthropy, volunteerism, and other efforts to meet the needs of local communities where it does business. Comcast truly is a national company with a local presence and local concerns for those in need.

I believe that Comcast's proposed transaction with NBC Universal will only enhance Comcast's ability to serve local needs in innovative ways. I am writing in support of this venture and hope that you will approve the partnership.

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

I am contacting you in the matter of the Comcast and NBC joint venture and urge you to support it. I am currently serving as state representative for Tennessee's thirteenth district and have personally witnessed Comcast's commitment and contribution to our region.

Comcast is a local company dedicated to strengthening our community. It has joined forces with groups, like the East Tennessee Historical Society, the Knox County Public Library, the Knoxville Area Urban League and the United Way of Greater Knoxville. Comcast recognizes the importance of supporting groups like these but also through direct volunteer programs, such as Comcast Cares Day.

Comcast is also dedicated to promoting diversity by ending the digital divide that has affected disadvantaged groups within our community. Comcast has expanded broadband to our youth by providing complimentary service to our schools and community organizations and by educating us all through digital literacy programs. The company understands how to advance America and the importance in investing in our children.

I support the joining of these two great companies and believe that it will only strengthen their commitment to Tennessee's thirteenth district after completing its partnership with NBC.

Thank you,

RE: MB Docket 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

Comcast, which takes a very active role in the communities it serves, has become woven into the fabric of Trenton, Michigan. As Mayor, I therefore write you to request that the FCC approve Comcast's proposed union with NBC Universal.

Although Trenton is a small community of less than 20,000 residents, we are blessed to have the Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge in our midst. This year, Comcast combined Earth Day and Comcast Cares Day, bringing dozens of employees, family members and friends to plant more than 100 trees. This is a wonderful project that brings the community together for an excellent purpose.

Comcast does many other things in Trenton to help our residents. It enables our children to bridge the digital divide by providing courtesy broadband service in our schools and library. It is a solid employer, offering above average wages and benefits to its employees, some of whom live in our community.

In light of all that Comcast does for Trenton, I ask the FCC to approve its proposed union with NBC Universal.

RE: MB Docket 10-56

Dear Chairman and Commissioners:

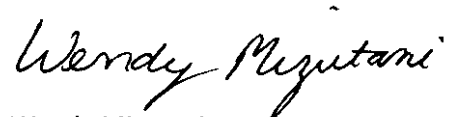

As a Comcast employee, United States citizen, and consumer of broadband products, I am writing to you to express my support for approval of the Comcast purchase of NBCU.

The synergies brought about by merging Comcast's delivery system with the content of NBCU will provide consumers with more and better options for accessing the information and entertainment where they want, when they want, and on whatever device they may choose to use. For Comcast, this strategy provides opportunities for continued growth as our industry continues to rapidly evolve.

As an employee, I can tell you from personal experience that Comcast cares for their employees and is a great partner and supporter of the local communities we are part of. There are great opportunities for personal and professional growth within the business, Comcast offers a generous benefits package which allows employees to care of themselves and their families, and Comcast gives back to the community through a myriad of community partnerships, including United Way and Comcast Cares. In short, Comcast is a great corporate citizen and a great place to work.

Thank you for your consideration and thank you in advance for your support of the Comcast/NBCU deal.

RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

I am writing to convey my support for the Comcast-NBCU joint venture. Over the years, Comcast has shown itself to be more than just a reliable service provider; it has carved out a spot for itself as a caring corporate partner that supports children and families in the community.

As the Executive Director of Family Building Blocks, an organization that strives to help families break the intergenerational cycle of abuse and neglect, I have been privileged to work with Comcast. Not only has Comcast provided us with grant support and hundreds of volunteer hours, but Comcast employees Dave Howard and Jay Burris have held a seat on our Board of Directors for several years and we have greatly valued their leadership.

On a national level, Comcast has demonstrated its commitment to children by investing in Sprout, a cable channel that provides high quality children's programming, and spearheading efforts to help parents protect their children from online predators and cyber bullying.

Comcast has become a valuable member of our community, and I am confident that they will continue to grow responsibly.

Earlier this year, the Trident United Way of South Carolina named Comcast executive Kara McLean the winner of our annual Ben Stage Above and Beyond Award for her hard work, dedication and impact on our organization. The phrase "above and beyond" also could apply to Comcast's overall commitment to our communities in the South Carolina Lowcountry.

At Trident United Way, we work to solve the most critical problems facing people living in Berkeley, Charleston and Dorchester counties. We invest $8 million back into the community each year, and we focus much of our efforts on education, income and health. We invest in programs that help to prepare children for school and help them build their academic and life skills while they're in school; that help people become economically stable through a variety of financial education programs; and that support development of a regular system of care for low-income uninsured people that provides increased access to primary and specialty care, including dental and mental health services.

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

As long as hunger exists in Maryland, the Maryland Food Bank ("MFB") will lead the movement and nurture the belief that together we can improve the lives of Marylanders by ending hunger. The Maryland Food Bank will achieve this by gathering excess donated food and grocery products from the food industry and the general public and distributing these products to community food providers.

I'm writing today to bring your attention to the important work performed by Comcast – a company that displays a profound understanding and commitment when it comes to feeding America's hungry. This year, Comcast held three Comcast Cares Day events for our Food Bank. During these events, Comcast employees packed food boxes, prepared homeless shelter toiletry kits and painted bowls for our Empty Bowls Fundraiser.

Although we're fortunate that many individuals and corporations step up with financial donations, no amount of money replaces the value of a hands-on volunteer effort. What we've seen from Comcast and its employees is a uniquely personal sort of dedication that allows participants the chance to meet the disadvantaged face-to-face and then return to their own communities with a newfound understanding of just how much more all of us need to accomplish for America's poor.

Clearly, many factors will influence your analysis of Comcast's proposed transaction with NBC Universal. At MFB, however, we're convinced that when a company repeatedly demonstrates compassion for the least fortunate, its actions speak volumes about its broader agenda. Comcast strikes us as an admirable corporate citizen and we hope you'll consider its commitment to America's hungry as a relevant factor in evaluating their future business plans and proposed expansion. We wish them the best of success.

Most sincerely,

Yvonne Terry

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

Millions of people have experienced the wonders of Colorado Springs as visitors to our great city, but several national magazines have described us as one of America's best places to live. Our 380,000 residents agree. One of the reasons we love living here is the fact that leading businesses in our community are focused on local issues and community needs. Comcast is one of those leaders, and I am writing to support Comcast's proposal to acquire NBC Universal.

Comcast sponsors many of the Greater Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce's key events and awards, including our annual dinner, the Mayor's State of the City address, and the Athena Award recognizing support for women in leadership. Comcast executives serve on our legislative and military affairs committees, and its employees provide community service during Comcast Cares Day and at other times throughout the year. The work by our Chamber has been featured in Comcast's locally oriented Newsmaker program and Comcast airs public service announcements about local issues of interest to the business community as well.

All of these contributions derive from Comcast's tremendous business success. Comcast builds its local presence using the resources of a national company. As a result, we have access to industry-leading technology, and we benefit from Comcast's philanthropy to our local charities and from the expertise of its local executives who are members of our community.

The Greater Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce is the second largest in the state of Colorado, serving more than 1,500 member firms which represent a combined workforce of more than 64,000 men and women in the Pikes Peak Region. As its chief, I can assure you that Comcast is a highly valuable leader and contributor in our region, and I urge you to support its proposed partnership with NBC Universal.

Dear Chairman and Commissioners,

I am writing to you today to tell you about my experience as a Comcast employee and share with you my support of the proposed Comcast-NBC Universal joint venture.

In June of 2008, I joined Comcast as a Regional Manager of Learning & Development supporting the Chicago area. Over the course of the past two years, I remain impressed at the investment Comcast places within its employees-of all levels and functional departments. Within this short tenure of time, I have also had the opportunity to advance my career path and now support a National role within Comcast University.

In addition, the company not only invests in the ongoing development of employees through learning opportunities, but remains one of the few companies to support life benefits including 401K and robust medical, dental and vision insurance plans. By modeling expected behavior, Comcast inspires employees to give back. You would not believe the excitement generated every year as Comcast Care Day approaches. How better to share my work life, as well as life lessons, with my two daughters as we volunteered time to meet local community needs.

Comcast is more than a large telecommunications operator; we are a team committed to providing quality services. I urge you to support the Comcast-NBC Universal joint venture.

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

As a long-time public servant, consumer advocate and community volunteer, I am writing to express my support for Comcast's proposal to acquire NBC Universal. Comcast stands out as a corporate citizen in El Paso County, Colorado, and I have every reason to believe a union with NBC Universal would benefit both companies and the communities they serve.

El Paso County encompasses more than 2,100 square miles and is home to more than 600,000 residents. I was first elected County Commissioner in 2002 and in 2005 and 2009 I was selected by my peers to serve as Chairman. Throughout this experience, I have had the opportunity to observe the impact Comcast has made on our county from an employment and tax revenues perspective, and I am impressed by the level of investment Comcast has been willing to make here. In fact, Comcast even provides free broadband and phone services to many of our municipal buildings and schools, including the County Commissioners Office in Colorado Springs.

I have had the pleasure of attending numerous Comcast events and been able to speak to countless Comcast employees who take pride in working for a company committed to building their community. Comcast's public service announcements and local programming provide essential visibility for various community endeavors, and a local Comcast executive serves on our County Planning Commission. Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I understand that the Federal Communications Commission is currently reviewing the proposed partnership of Comcast and NBC Universal. I am writing to express my full support for Comcast in this action. Comcast is an exemplary local partner to Green Tree Borough.

Green Tree is a small community located just a few miles from downtown Pittsburgh in western Pennsylvania. We pride ourselves on the "small town feel" we have maintained, even though we are just a stone's throw from the City of Pittsburgh.

Comcast has stepped up to make some really wonderful things possible in Green Tree. They have been an avid supporter of our annual Octoberfest event for the last seven (7) years. Our residents greatly anticipate this community event. It is an opportunity for us to showcase the community spirit and neighborliness we have established in Green Tree to the many people who attend from outside of our borough borders.

Comcast also helped our baseball association raise enough money to build a batting cage last year. This may seem like a small gesture, but it means a great deal to our thriving ball leagues. Comcast recognized the importance of something like this to Green Tree and set out to help make it happen. That shows the company really understands and lives up to its local commitments.

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

The Knoxville Area Urban League ("KAUL"), an affiliate of the National Urban League, strives to be the recognized leader in the greater Knoxville area in promoting diversity and economic and social equity for all citizens. In particular, our programs are designed to advance the aspirations of African Americans, other minority groups and the disadvantaged to secure economic self-reliance, parity, power and civil rights.

Today I'm pleased to offer KAUL's endorsement of Comcast's proposed joint venture with NBC Universal. We're always on the lookout for companies that not only share our values but also take that all-important "next step" and put their words into action. That's exactly what we've seen Comcast and its employees do over our relationship of more than seven years.

Comcast has provided essential grant funding for local initiatives aimed at increasing literacy and developing the self-sufficiency skills that Knoxville's at-risk youth need in order to be successful in an increasingly competitive job market. Specifically, Comcast has worked with the "Read and Rise" program which helps teach adults (young and old) new skills for becoming literacy advocates in the community – as well as in their own homes. Comcast has also supported the "National Urban League Incentives to Excel & Succeed (NULITES)" program. NULITES brings youth together at a summit designed to teach self-reliance, professional competence and the importance of becoming more engaged members of their communities. NULITES accomplishes these goals by providing participants exposure to a diverse array of individual speakers as well as engaging activities, and we've been grateful for Comcast's commitment to making the effort a genuine success story.

KAUL has gotten to know Comcast at multiple levels: one of its local executives, Russell Byrd senior director of government and public affairs, sits on our board; we've worked closely with the company on community empowerment efforts; and we've seen the revolutionary impact its broadband Internet technology has had on how Knoxville residents live, learn and work. We're confident its planned expansion and partnership with NBC Universal will be a net-positive for our community, and we look forward to a long future working side-by-side with this dynamic company.

Warm regards,

Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

June 10, 2010

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I am the Executive Director of PACTV, a not-for-profit membership-based organization that provides a public forum for the communities of Plymouth and Kingston, Massachusetts through Public, Educational and Government Access television. I am writing in support of the Comcast-NBC Universal venture, because Comcast has gone well above and beyond simply cablecasting our programming.

PACTV staff and volunteers promote other area non-profit and service organizations by providing community bulletin boards and producing and cablecasting public service announcements and special programming at no cost. For example, Comcast helps us cablecast the annual Plymouth Rotary Club Telethon Charity Auction by providing the fiber connection from the event to the local studio. The company also donates the technical assistance to open the auction to cable stations in surrounding towns. Further, the company provides the telephone service for the auction free of charge. All of this is especially important because the auction is the Rotary's major source of funding. Comcast's support has helped that organization expand its reach and, therefore, its donor base.

Comcast also provides technical assistance that allows us to present a live cablecast of both the local Thanksgiving Day parade and our 4th of July parade. These are annual town traditions that would be missed by my community's many citizens without Comcast's support and assistance.

Comcast has been and continues to be an extraordinary community partner. I urge you to consider Comcast's contributions to our organization and our communities in your decision-making process.

Sincerely,

Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

On behalf of the Motor City Blight Busters (MCBB) of Detroit, Michigan, I am writing to urge the FCC's support of the Comcast and NBC Universal venture. Comcast has been a wonderful partner to MCBB and bolsters our work with critical volunteer support every year.

In our remarkable 21-year history, Motor City Blight Busters and our 120,000 volunteers have contributed more than 658,000 hours to paint 684 homes, secured 379 abandoned buildings, renovated 176 houses and built 114 new ones to make suitable housing for 1,160 people in Detroit. We fed 350 people at our first Thanksgiving dinner, provided 300 students with training in building trades and culinary arts and offered free health screening to 500 citizens.

Included in our efforts are the countless Comcast employees who joined us on Comcast Cares Day. Comcast and its employees help revitalize and re-energize our community through this day of volunteer support and other efforts throughout the year.

In fact, Comcast is well known for its philanthropy, volunteerism, and other efforts to meet the needs of local communities where it does business. Comcast truly is a national company with a local presence and local concerns for those in need.

I believe that Comcast's proposed transaction with NBC Universal will only enhance Comcast's ability to serve local needs in innovative ways. I am writing in support of this venture and hope that you will approve the partnership.

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

As the Mayor of Marana, Arizona, I am writing to offer my support for the Comcast and NBC Universal partnership and to acknowledge the integral role Comcast has played in the economic and community development of Marana.

Incorporated in 1977, Marana's short history has been shaped by its devoted community partners and pioneering residents. Thirty-three years after its founding, Marana's population has soared to over 35,000 and continues to grow steadily each year. Comcast, which has offices located in Marana, employs our residents as well as and friends from neighboring communities.

Comcast supports Marana's Economic Roadmap, a carefully planned initiative that will guide our leaders and citizens for decades and preserve Marana's precious commodities for future generations. Comcast's values, especially its commitment to community investment and to supporting the capacity of small and mid-sized businesses, are perfectly matched with Marana's values. Whether Comcast is wiring and providing complimentary broadband access to our schools and public libraries, lending its support to the Town Council, or providing assistance for our annual Fourth of July celebration, its presence positively impacts our residents' quality of life.

Comcast's employees, too, are committed to the success of Marana. Last year on Comcast Cares Day, Comcast team members partnered with the local branch of Habitat for Humanity to build a new home in Honea Heights for low-income community members and cleaned up several homes in the neighborhood. This year, nearly 200 Comcast employees and their families again volunteered their time and considerable talents to improve our community by enhancing a school in the Marana School District.

Comcast signs on yearly to sponsor the Mayor's State of the Town Address, an important forum to share ideas, engage new resources and bolster the community spirit of Marana. Comcast is our partner in our effort to sustain the values of Marana as we rapidly expand, becoming a more diverse and economically sound place to live, work, shop and play. On behalf of Marana, I recommend Comcast's union with NBC Universal to the FCC.

Sincerely,

Ed Honea

RE: MB Docket 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

I am writing today in strong support of the proposed joint venture between Comcast and NBC Universal. As an employee of Comcast, I can personally attest to the integrity, community involvement, and commitment to superior customer service of this company. I believe the merger will only amplify the positive experience for both Comcast's workforce and consumers.

Comcast truly is a great place to work. The company provides good jobs with excellent benefits to its employees. It values professional development, work-life balance, and diversity. The company continues to keep great jobs in America in this age of mass outsourcing. This is something I believe sets us apart from other large corporations.

Second, Comcast has been a conscientious corporate citizen. From the annual investments made by the Comcast Foundation, to our yearly day of service Comcast Cares Day, to our support of local community organizations and events, Comcast shows up for the communities in which its employees and customers live and work.

On a personal note, as a member of the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) community, I have felt fully supported at Comcast. From benefits that are offered to my same-sex partner, to the company's support of LGBT organizations and causes, to local content that Comcast produces that has an LGBT theme, I feel my diversity is not only embraced but seen as an asset to the company.

I am appreciative of the FCC's efforts to closely scrutinize this merger in the interest of the public. However, I believe our government can place trust in Comcast's good intentions and goals in this merger.

Thank you for considering my perspective.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Genachowski,

Raymond, New Hampshire is a small town located in the southern part of state that embodies the best of small town America. We are a tightly knit community that embraces innovation and welcomes new business and development that betters our Town as a result.

The purpose of this letter is not to tell you about all the accomplishments of Raymond, but my support of the Comcast/NBCU partnership. Comcast is an industry leading communications service provider and a committed local partner to the Town. Just last year over fifty (50) Comcast employees volunteered their time to plant trees, restore flower gardens, and perform an overall clean up of Riverside Park located here in Raymond. Three years ago during a major storm the Town's communication network was knocked out. Comcast responded by offering free phone service to our Police and Fire Department. Comcast has delivered on its promises of system up-grades, outstanding cable service, the fastest internet provider in the state, and a facility based residential voice competitor.

Raymond appreciates partners who share the same sense of community as we do and Comcast has clearly demonstrated their willingness to be part of our Town. It is my hope that the FCC will approve the Comcast/NBCU partnership.

Dear Chairman Genachowski,

Based in California, New America Media (NAM) is the country's first and largest national collaboration and advocate of 2,000 ethnic news organizations. Ethnic media is the fastest growing sector of American journalism and as such our organization's goal is to bring the voices of the marginalized into the national discourse. We do this by producing, aggregating and disseminating multimedia content and services for the youth and ethnic media sectors.

NAM's long-standing partner in the effort to reach ethnic communities is Comcast Corporation. The company has shown continued dedication to providing a platform to sectors of our population that are simply not heard from enough. Comcast was among the first corporate sponsors of NAM's national Expos, helping draw others to our marquee. By supporting our organization, Comcast ensures that greater numbers of ethnic media outlets will be recognized and included in NAM's nationwide online directory. The importance of this function cannot be overstated, as close to 60 million ethnic adults connect to each other, home countries and to America via ethnic media sources every day.

Comcast should also be recognized as an important platform for ethnic communities. For example, Comcast's San Francisco Bay Area's GET LOCAL Channel and its ON DEMAND service showcase ethnic media video reports. These are the stories that reflect who we are becoming as a global society.

We could not share our message or give voice to those who need it without Comcast's support.

As you explore the opportunity for Comcast and NBC Universal to join, we hope you will keep our experience with Comcast in mind. We are highly supportive of the proposal.

Sincerely,

RE: MB Docket 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski,

As the President of the Old Saybrook Chamber of Commerce, I am contacting you to offer my perspective on Comcast's proposed acquisition of NBC Universal currently under review by the Commission. I believe Comcast's commitment to Connecticut would be enhanced by the completion of a Comcast-NBCU transaction.

Many of our Chamber members are able to compete in the global marketplace with broadband service provided by Comcast. With Comcast, our small businesses now have an option to the traditional phone service. We are fortunate to have Comcast help drive economic growth in Old Saybrook and throughout the state.

While its economic impact is certainly significant, Comcast's commitment to corporate citizenship has benefited local organizations across the state. In the Old Saybrook, Connecticut area, Comcast gets involved in our community through support of local events and venues like the Old Saybrook Business Expo, Old Saybrook Chamber Annual Meeting, the Katharine Hepburn Cultural Arts Center and the Ivoryton Playhouse. Comcast employees participate on our committees and a Comcast leader sits on our Chamber Board. In addition, Comcast provides our schools and libraries with complimentary cable TV and Internet service. Whether it's the contributions to local United Way charities, local municipalities, schools and libraries or the charitable giving throughout Connecticut, Comcast consistently gives back to the communities it serves.

I believe that Comcast has a proven record here in Connecticut as a growing provider of good paying jobs and as a dedicated corporate citizen. I hope you will keep Comcast's impact on our state and local communities in mind as you review this transaction.

Sincerely,

RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

While the past several years have seen tough economic times for all Americans, they've been especially challenging for Michiganders. Today's Michigan is experiencing significant upheaval as we transition from a struggling twentieth century manufacturing economy to becoming a leader in creating the high tech, high wage jobs needed to fuel America's future.

I'm writing to you today in connection with your review of the proposed merger between Comcast and NBCU. As Mayor of Westland, I've been privileged to partner with some of the top corporate innovators helping reenergize our state and I'm pleased to tell you Comcast is right at the front of the line. Since 2008, Comcast has invested nearly $80 million in the Westland area, creating and sustaining jobs and building out our area's technological infrastructure. These investments have included construction of a 10,000 square foot call center and beneficial upgrades throughout Comcast's local network. Even in midst of the "Great Recession," Comcast has invested $165 million state-wide and continues to employ talented hard-working men and women across Michigan.

Importantly, the infrastructure improvements made by Comcast will no doubt have job-creating ripple effects, not only here in Westland but in the entire Midwest region. I cannot overstate how refreshing Comcast's investments have been for our community's psyche.

I applaud Comcast as a good corporate citizen and urge you to keep this in mind as you consider their proposed merger with NBCU.

Warm regards,

Hon. William Wild

Re: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski,

I am writing on behalf of the Shawsheen Valley Regional Technical School regarding our relationship with Comcast and what it has meant to our students.

Our school, located in Billerica, Massachusetts, offers students a high school experience that optimizes student attitude, achievement and skills by integrating vocational-technical and academic curricula in order to prepare them to begin adult life and careers immediately and independently.

Our goal is to prepare our students to enter the workforce in new and emerging occupations, effectively equipping them to begin careers as skilled workers and technicians or to prepare to pursue post-secondary education.

We believe that providing a good high school experience for our youngsters means setting them up for a positive future as productive citizens in our community. But our mission is large, and we know we must also recruit help from employers in our area. Comcast is one that has stepped up in a big way. They have continually supported us, whether by having Tim Murnane, Comcast Vice President of Government and Community Affairs, partner with our school on many initiatives or by providing grant money for our at-risk youth after school program.

As you consider the joint venture between Comcast and Universal NBC, please bear in mind that Comcast is a vital part of our community. Its reach goes beyond providing jobs; its presence is also felt in the preparing our youth for a promising future.

Sincerely,

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

As a member of Philadelphia City Council's Committee for Public Property, which governs cable franchise activities in the city, I have worked closely with Comcast over the years. I have also witnessed the company's commitment to our city. I am very proud of the company's leading position as a corporate citizen and technology innovator, and I recommend that you approve Comcast's request to partner with NBC Universal.

As you know, Comcast is a cable and broadband innovator for homes and businesses – and beyond. I have worked diligently to provide wireless hubs in South Philadelphia's business district, and Comcast has been my partner in making this possible. The company was eager to work closely with me in building test hubs for this initiative and is now the provider for this service.

Comcast has also demonstrated its commitment as a corporate citizen by providing broadband service and electronic whiteboards or "smart boards" to two local schools in my district, Goretti and Neumann Catholic High Schools. In fact, Comcast provides courtesy broadband service to most of the elementary, middle and high schools in my district. Furthermore, Comcast has gone well beyond its obligations in its franchise agreement by providing free cable and Internet service to our municipal buildings. It also helped the City of Philadelphia establish channel 64, our government access station, allowing residents of Philadelphia to view council hearings and other key government events throughout the year.

Comcast has been a significant presence benefitting the residents of Philadelphia, and I am confident that a Comcast-NBC Universal partnership will further improve the quality of life in our city and across the nation. I urge the FCC to approve this union.

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

On behalf of the United Way of Lebanon County in Lebanon, Pennsylvania, I am writing to express my support of Comcast and its proposal to join with NBC Universal. The United Way of Lebanon County has been the beneficiary of Comcast's extraordinary local commitment for many years. We truly value our partnership.

My organization works to improve lives by supporting and maximizing community resources. Many programs in Lebanon County depend on us to raise the funds and provide the support to sustain their operations. In these difficult times, executing our mission is harder than ever. Because of reliable partners like Comcast we are meeting needs and making services available to our neighbors. We cannot thank Comcast enough. Without its critical support we would struggle to maintain access to after school programs for our youth, financial counseling for families and support programs for those in crisis. From our perspective, Comcast is a part of the solution in Lebanon County.

Comcast is also a tremendous source of volunteer resources for the United Way Day of Caring. It also hosts its own large-scale volunteer effort called Comcast Cares Day. Because the two events fell on the same day this year, Comcast, United Way and Habitat for Humanity joined together to create a community vegetable garden in a previously vacant city lot. Thanks to Comcast employees' volunteer efforts more than 40 low-income families will enjoy fresh vegetables throughout the growing season. The company has committed to expand and improve the site next year. Furthermore, Comcast is always doing what it does best. It provides courtesy internet services to many of our schools and libraries.

Through the support of partners like Comcast, the United Way of Lebanon County can fund 35 different agencies and programs in our area that provide much needed services for our friends and neighbors. We cannot adequately explain what that means to us and our community members locally. I hope the FCC will consider Comcast's investment in the communities it serves and our support for the Comcast and NBC Universal partnership in its review.

Sincerely,

RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

As Mayor of Harriman, Tennessee, I frequently discuss our local economy and economic development with our community's local businesses, community centers and civic institutions. During those discussions, I often cite the success of Comcast as a company that has made significant contributions to our community, both in terms of its core business and its commitment as a leading community partner. While you review the new partnership between Comcast and NBC, I hope you will consider Harriman's experience with Comcast and the many similar experiences I know Comcast has fostered throughout Tennessee.

Comcast came to our community in 1996. Since then, its cable programming has grown to include a wide number of cable channels, from sports to family entertainment to news channels to premium offerings and, of course, our local access channels. One of the best services the company offers is local access programming, which allows our residents to get news about their community in their homes with ease and convenience.

Comcast then moved beyond cable service to provide high-speed broadband access as well. As you know, broadband is no longer a luxury, but a necessity for families, schools, and businesses. Members of our community rely on broadband for job searches, information about government aid, education, research, keeping in touch with family and more. Comcast's high-speed access is reliable and affordable. And now Comcast offers phone service too.

Comcast's investment in and partnership with Harriman has been fruitful and I know this partnership will only grow with NBC on our team. Thank you for considering my experiences with Comcast.

Respectfully,
